4-H Fair Winners

WILL COUNTY -- Another Will County 4-H fair has been brought to a close. The weather was good, the exhibits were many and excellent, and the attendance good.

Many of the winners in the 4-H show will now seek laurels for their products or handiwork at the state fair in Springfield.

The fair began Tuesday of last week and closed Saturday with the horse show as the final event. It was held in Francis 4-H Field, Francis Road, New Lenox.

Safety Light Has OK

By ANN KARKUT

LOCKPORT -- A contract between the city and Robert Hamilton Consultant Engineering Company was approved at the most recent Lockport City Council session. It is for design of a traffic light and passing lane at the intersection of E. 7th St. and Rt. 7.

This was discussed at length several months ago. Citizens of the area were concerned for the safety of the children walking to and from the new Milne Grove School which is located behind the fire station.

Gordon McCluskey, director of public works, said motor fuel tax money can be used for the project and spread over a two year period. McCluskey also informed the council that a letter is being sent to residents explaining the need for the increased water and sewer rates.

The city is running only on one well presently, said McCluskey. The motor is being repaired on the other pump.

Purchase of one-half year parking permits in the Hamilton St. parking lot was brought up by McCluskey who said he had queries about it.

Mayor George Nordstrom broke the tie and defeated the motion for such permits. Voting affirmatively were Dick Cronholm, Bob White and John Kinsella. On the negative side were Frank Meyers, Swen Nelson and George Wolfe. Len Strahanoski and Jim Miller were absent.

Attorney Eugene Korst

has sent out notices to owners asking them to cut weeds on their lots.

Cronholm noted that he had received complaints regarding garbage burning in the city. He says the city has an ordinance against burning and the disposal company does pick up just about everything so residents have no reason to burn anything.

Clark for the city clerk's office will get a raise retroactive to July 1. She will now receive $125 monthly, compared to $83.33.

Mayor Nordstrom commended the civil defense auxiliary officers for the number of hours they devote to the city. "I really appreciate it," commented the mayor.

April sales tax netted the city $9,400.08.

$285,450 Is Voted

By GLENN LOGAN

FRANKFORT -- The Frankfort village board has adopted its annual appropriation ordinance for the current fiscal year that ends next spring. The ordinance provides for expenditures totaling $285,450 dollars.

Last year's appropriation total was $226,575. This year's appropriation is up because of increased costs of supplies and services and a sizable sum required to house and equip the new well. It was also necessary to extend a large water main from the new well to the water tank at the village hall when the water supply for that well became low.

These bills did not become due until after the beginning of the new fiscal year so appropriations had to be made. This accounted for approximately half of the increase.

Also in the appropriation measure is a $3,000 item to cover the cost of a special census of the village. It will not really cost that much, it was said, but the sum was set that high in the event of contingencies.

It was pointed out, a lot of the appropriation ordinance provides for contingencies.

Village Attorney August Santoro explained that it is necessary to provide for all possible expenditures because if no appropriation is made for a particular purpose no money can be spent for it. The money the village may receive from the state for street repairs, for instance, is carried in the appropriation ordinance.

One of the items in the appropriation ordinance is $12,000 for construction of a building to house village equipment. The village does not know yet if such a building will be erected but if it is money can be expended for the purpose.

Trustee Howard Osmus told the board that it was estimated such a building would cost between $8,000 and $10,000. It would be built at the sewage treatment plant site.

The board awarded a contract to Wunder Construction Co. of Plainfield, for repair of village streets. His bid was $5,814. The only other bid received was from Joliet Blacktop and was for $5,953.

At the next meeting of the board, Aug. 4, it is expected that the lease for Frankfort Community Park to the recently organized Frankfort Park District will be signed. The village is the owner of the land. The lease will be a long term affair and the consideration probably will be $1.

It was reported that 140 lots in Connecticut Hills are buried in weeds. If the owners don't cut them the village will and bill the owners, it was decided.

Mayor Glenn Warning swore in three new part time policemen, Lawrence Soria, Ronald Smith and Donald Cranfill.

Members of the village board will attend the Illinois Municipal League meeting at Chicago Sept. 6, 7 and 8. The September board meeting will be held Sept. 2, because the first Monday is Labor Day.

A letter was sent from the village board to Owen J. Higgins, general manager of the Allis Chalmers plant at Matteson, welcoming the company to the area.

The village said it was prepared to do what it could to aid John Arnold in improving the Frankfort airport. Arnold wants to lengthen the runways 2,400 feet. Allis Chalmers, it was said, makes considerable use of planes.

Boy Bitten By Dog Seeks Assistance

MOKENA--Robert Pomper, 15, of 11403 W. 194th St., is asking for help in locating a dog that bit him July 19. If the animal can be placed under observation and remains in good health, Robert will not have to take anti-rabies shots, which are painful as well as expensive.

The dog is described by Robert as a German Shepherd, jet black in color. The youth was riding his bicycle on Wolf Rd., about a block south of the Hickory Creek bridge when the dog bit him on the right leg.

Inquiries in the neighborhood failed to uncover any trace of the animal. The victim said he did notice that the dog was not wearing a collar of any kind. The owner of the dog or anyone who knows of a jet black German Shepherd in the area is asked by Robert to call him at 479-5637.

Cancel Landfill Hearing

LEMONT -- Hearing on the proposed landfill at Mt. Vernon Cemetery, which was set for Aug. 11, has been postponed, according to the Metropolitan Disposal Company of Chicago.

The meeting will be rescheduled sometime after Sept. 15. The reason given for the cancellation was that some of the attorneys for the objector requested a postponement.

Notice

Last week the personal property and real estate tax assessments for DuPage Township of Will County appeared in a publication of much smaller circulation than the Southwest Graphic. Because of this, the listings were probably missed by many property owners in the area.

It is the intention of the Publisher of the Southwest Graphic that this publication provide the maximum in community and area service to our readers. Therefore, as a community service we have decided to provide a complete copy of this tax listing to anyone who contacts the offices listed in the masthead appearing on page six of this edition.

Probe Canal Usage Plan

LEMONT -- To buy or not to buy the Illinois and Michigan Canal is the question that is being discussed by the Lemont Village Board of Trustees.

A special meeting of the board was held Monday. A complete report on the canal acquisition program was given to representatives of various civic organizations in the village.

The report, prepared by Robert Gorski, chairman, assisted by Joseph A. Schudt Jr., village engineer, was read in full.

A history of the canal was prepared in the report. The canal is the predecessor of the much bigger Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal and its connecting link, the Calumet Sag Channel.

Need for the canal was first observed in 1673, and as early as 1794 long-range plans were begun toward establishing the Illinois waterway link with the lake. On Aug. 25, 1816, the first step was taken in securing the title for the land along the route of a proposed waterway. In February of 1823, the General Assembly of Illinois appointed a board of commissioners to determine the most available route for a canal, and to estimate its cost of construction.

On Jan. 9, 1836, the General Assembly enacted legislation providing for construction of the canal. The act provided that in constructing the canal, 90 feet of land on either side of the main channel was to be reserved for future enlargement of its capacity.

After a period of abandonment, with deterioration of some of the unfinished work, the canal was completed and opened for navigation in April 1848. For the next 23 years efforts were devoted to building the traffic of the canal and payment of the canal debt.

The canal was still bearing a heavy volume of traffic as late as 1874, when 12,424,705 bushels of corn and wheat flowed to Chicago.

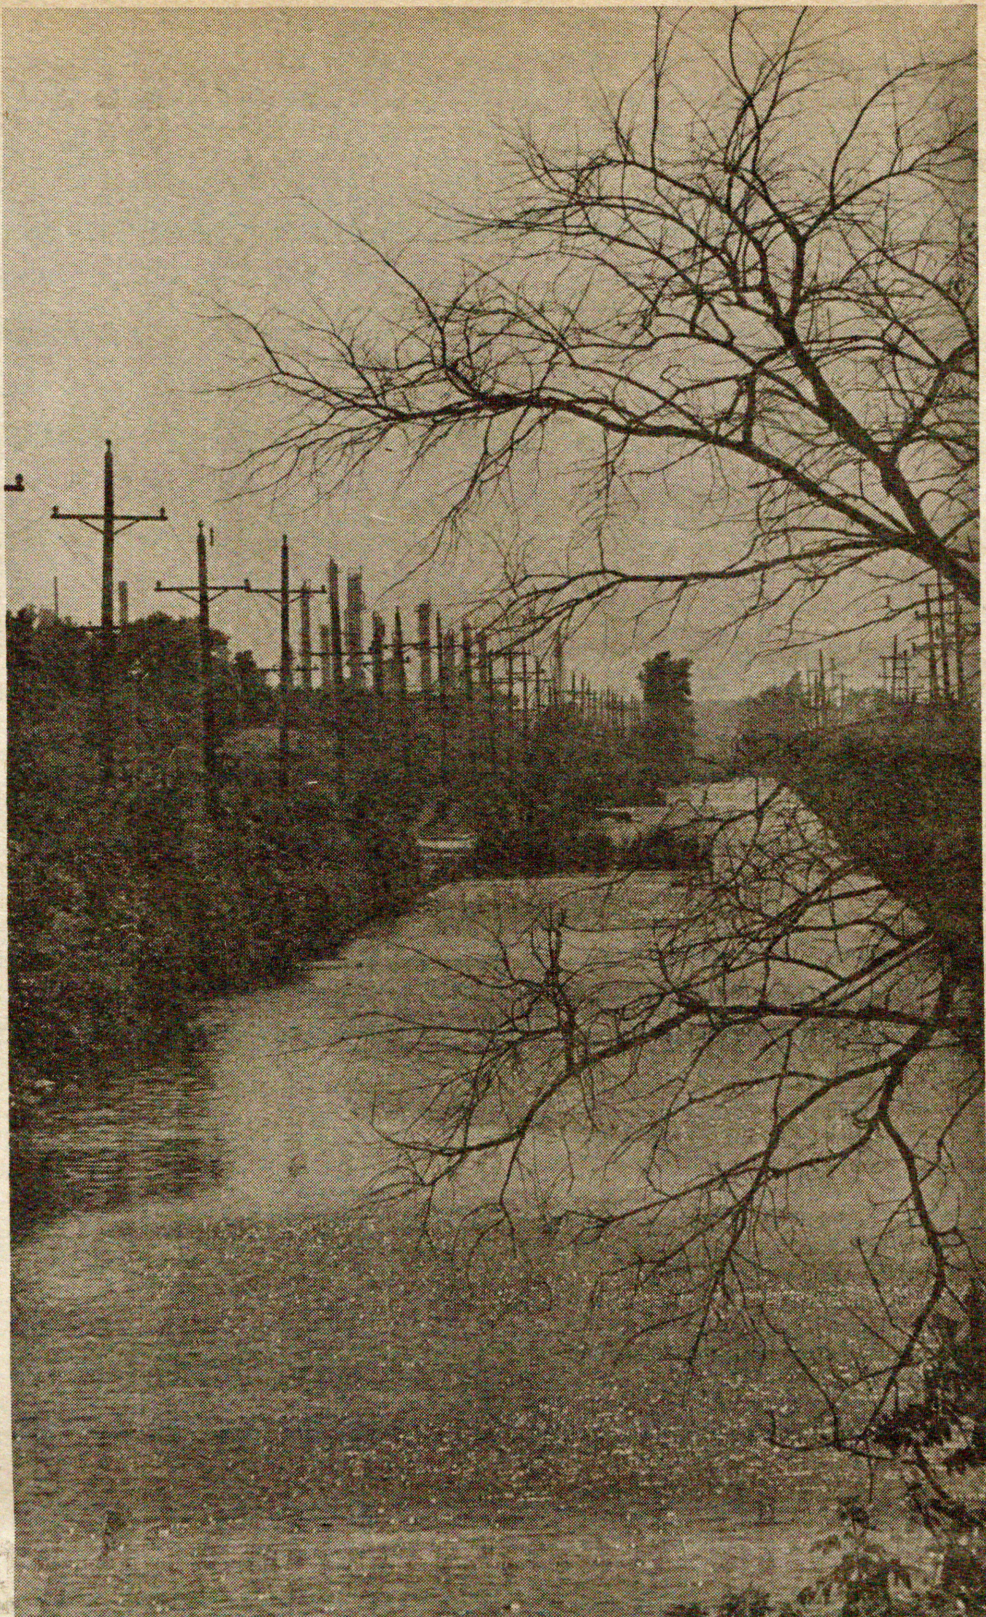

The decline began about 1880, when the number of vessels dwindled to 133; by 1893 there were only 82.

By 1900 traffic had dropped 12 759 tons or about one-fifth of the peak volumes. Construction of the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal negated the use of the Illinois-Michigan Canal between Chicago and Joliet.

With completion of the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal, a drive began to improve the entire Illinois waterway system. Progress was slow, and work did not begin until 1919. The Illinois-Michigan Canal continued as a navigable waterway from Joliet to LaSalle until 1933 when the Illinois River work was completed. For all practical intents and purposes the segment of the canal between Joliet and LaSalle has been abandoned since 1930.

A portion of the canal from Chicago southwesterly to Summit has recently been utilized in connection with the Interstate 55 Expressway, and construction was within the canal's right-of-way. In addition, certain lands near Channahon are now being used as a state park.

After study of the canal and its uses in other areas of the state, the canal committee of Lemont presented its recommendations to the board for use of this land, if it is purchased. The question of whether or not to obtain the land will be decided by the general public and the board of trustees after further study.

Mazon Couple Win Contest

SOUTH WEST -- Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Misener, Rt. 1, Mazon, have been selected as the 1969 outstanding young dairy couple of district 13, Pure Milk Association, according to Albert Krusemark, of Frankfort, the district's representative on the PMA board of directors.

The Miseners were selected on the basis of leadership, personality and interest in dairy farming, Krusemark said. They will represent PMA district 13 in competition with other PMA districts in Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana for the title of outstanding young dairy couple of Pure Milk Association.

Interviews for the association title will be held in Chicago, August 25 and 26.

Simcox Case Is Going To Court

LOCKPORT -- Daniel Simcox case will go to court. Simcox, a second year counselor at Lockport West High School did not have his contract renewed by the high school board for alleged lack of self-direction and lack of cooperation with administration.

Simcox, aided by representatives who formed a Joint Committee for Teachers' rights, asked that the board reconsider.

William Brill, board president, was criticized for trying to get the case reopened. Board members said a full board should be present because they had voted four to three in executive session not to reopen the case.

Attorneys John Ligtenberg, Andrew Leahy and Alvin DeJong for the American Federation of Teachers' Union informed the board June 27 by letter that they intend to file legal action to obtain reinstatement and accrued damages.

Decree Tap On Permits Needed

By Bev Smutnak

CREST HILL -- Property owners of Crest Hill must now secure tap on permits before any sewer and water lines can be installed on their property. City council adopted this action at their last meeting.

Permits will not be issued unless either the owner's assessment fee is paid or arrangements to pay have been made. Tap on fee permits are free of cost and are available from the city treasurer.

Officer Jerry Westerfield resigned from the police force. Dennis Langomini, 1715 Willowbridge, filled the vacancy. Three women were hired as radio clerks, Mrs. Glori Briney of 1404

Clara Ave., Miss Julia Turk of 806 Otis Ave. and Mrs. Joanne Soave of 1715 Wilcos, part-time helper.

Russ Hartley, treatment plant operator, was given the go ahead to embark on a project to paint fire hydrants and the city pump house. Bill Jacobs' Chevrolet was awarded the bid for a 1969 van type truck at $2,044. This truck is for the sewer department's use.

The council approved $300 expenses requested by Joe Gulas, street department head, for 150 feet of 10 inch storm sewer line to be installed in Richland. Gulas also was authorized a $350 expenditure for a new main broom on the city street sweeper.

Attorney John Cirricione was instructed to write the state for a model plan on junk cars, especially garages and body shops.

Bills approved totaled $59,569.73. Payroll came to $7,884.17.

2 Students Pick Moon Time

Two California college students share the first place spot in the "Man In The Moon" contest co-sponsored by the Graphic Newspapers and TODAY, the Gannett newspaper serving the Cape Kennedy Area.

Computers elected the national winners, and are selecting the local winners from among the hundreds of thousands of entries.

The name of the Graphic Newspaper's reader who came closest to the moment Neil Armstrong stepped onto the moon's surface, and the names of four runners-up, will be announced in next week's edition.

The contest to pick the precise instant man would first step on the moon took place in towns across the country. Entries included Graphic Newspaper readers and ones from 167 other newspapers.

The top local winner will be presented with a set of World Book Encyclopedia. The next four closest contestants will each receive a 1969 World Book Encyclopedia Yearbook.

First in the national contest were Phil Schoenwetter and Bruce Wesner from San Rafael, Calif. They're college juniors in a pre-medical program. The duo submitted 80,100 entries that arrived by the bag-full just days before the contest closed.

Their best guess was 10:-

56:15 p.m. EDT on July 20, five seconds short of the actual time Armstrong began his walk. They've claimed as their prize a two-week trip to Switzerland for skiing during the Christmas holidays.

A retired Navy pilot who lives 17 miles from Cape Kennedy submitted one guess just for the fun of it. That guess turned out to be nine seconds short of the mark, and earned the second place national slot.

The pilot chose $1,000 for his prize; the alternate was a two-week all expense paid trip for two to Cape Kennedy Space Center.

Local winners will be notified by Graphic Newspapers this week.

WHOOPEE! Bruce Wesner, left and Phillip Schoenwetter exclaim in winning the "Man On The Moon" contest. They're tossing around facsimile entry blanks used in submitting 80,100 guesses, with each guess 15 seconds apart. They were five seconds off the mark of 10:56:20 p.m. ECT on July 20, the moment Neil Armstrong stepped onto the moon's surface.

Argonne Scientists Plan Study Of Moon Samples

Scientists from the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory have explained what data they will seek from analyses of moon samples brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

The scientists are members of two of 110 research groups from the United States and six other countries who were chosen by NASA to conduct experiments with the first lunar samples. They will pick up their specimens of lunar material in Houston after a 50-day quarantine period.

The Argonne groups are George W. Reed Jr., principal investigator, Mrs. Stanka Jovanovic, and Louis H. Fuchs; and Paul R. Fields, principal investigator, Herbert Diamond, Donald M. Metta, and Charles M. Stevens.

Reed and his colleagues will study the concentration, composition and distribution of selected trace elements in lunar samples using a technique called "neutron activities analysis."

Fields and his associates will search for two extremely long-lived radio-active isotopes in lunar samples.

Chemical procedures for separating the elements from lunar rocks will be performed in a special laboratory that is free of all chemical contamination.

Schools Registration Aug. 4-8

NEW LENOX--Registration for students in grades 1 through 8 who will be attending New Lenox School District 122 for the 1969-70 school year will be August 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Oakview School lobby.

A student insurance policy will be available for $2 and "around the clock" insurance will be $15.

For junior high pupils grades 6, 7, and 8, the registration fees will be $16.25. This amount includes fees for the textbooks, consumable supplies, towel service, lyceum programs, student-parent handbooks, student portfolio and student publications. A student insurance policy will be available for $2 and "around the clock" insurance will be $15.

Oakview Junior High will start a modified hot lunch program in September. Parents of junior high students will not be able to purchase milk at registration time for the entire school year. Milk may be purchased on a daily basis only in the cafeteria.

Dictionaries may be purchased for $3.75. Students in grades 3 through 8 are required to have school dictionaries.

To date 224 kindergarten pupils have been registered. Any parent having a youngster eligible to attend kindergarten this fall who has not registered should do so as soon as possible at the district office of the Oakview School.

Fees for kindergarten children will be collected at the orientation conference. A schedule of the conferences will be mailed to all parents of kindergarten pupils registered.

To speed up registration, duplicate enrollment cards were placed in the report cards so that parents can have them filled out before the registration dates.

School authorities stressed that it is extremely important that every effort be made to enroll children in grades 1-8 during registration week. Late date registrations impose tremendous difficulty and extra work on the part of the school administration, they said.

local grade schools in February, should report to the guidance office at West High shortly before 8 a.m.

Initial registration lasts about one hour and testing two more hours. Students should be finished by 11 a.m.

Registration of any student will not be completed until transcripts from former schools have been received and the results of testing reviewed.

Students entering high school for the first time are required to have proof of a current medical exam and dental check-up. Students transferring to Lockport West from other high schools are requested to have their medical records sent to this school with their credit transcripts.

For further information, call the guidance office at West High School, 838-4020.

Honor Crop Reporters

WILL COUNTY--Three Will County men, volunteer crop reporters, were honored recently. They are Henry C. Kappe, 30 years' service; William Nieland, 20 years; and John Francis, 10 years.

Display Is Arranged

LOCKPORT--Veterans of Foreign Wars of Lockport, Post 5788, will help merchants become more patriotic on the 17 designated flag days.

Post Commander Dick Gatlin announced at the most recent Lockport city council session that the VFW will provide the brackets and flags for light poles in the downtown area. Businessmen will be responsible for raising and lowering the flags on the light poles near them.

Village Hall Is Studied

MOKENA--The Mokena Village board is now considering whether to proceed with remodeling the former church building to use the first floor for a village hall, or to put up a new building.

The Mokena Public Community Library District now occupies the ground or semi-basement floor.

Trustee Lyman Teague reported to the board he has obtained figures from one builder and expects to get information from others on probable cost.

The estimate he has, Teague said, appears to be too costly and the other members agreed that they should study whether the money would be put to better use if applied on a new building.

Teague also reported the chimney on the old church building was damaged. The board authorized its repair.

Three part time police officers have been hired.

They are Wayne Mangum, Dale Riels and Leonard Robins. They will serve a probationary period of six months and undergo the required police training.

Trustee Clark, police chairman, informed the board the bicycle safety program sponsored by the police department is to be Aug. 23 from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m.

A request by a firm to vend ice cream in Mokena was denied.

Tavern Owners Seek Ordinance Revision

By Bev Smutnak

CREST HILL--Tavern owners here hope to see three revisions made in Crest Hill's liquor ordinance when they meet this week with the city council in a special session.

Five tavern owners and two chain store representatives appeared at this week's council session.

Owners are asking for revisions that would change the closing hours, allow female bartenders and lift the restrictions now imposed on chain stores that require separate entrances between the main store and liquor departments.

Crest Hill taverns now close at 2 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 1 a.m. Sundays. Owners want closing hours extended one hour to coincide with county hours.

Larry McKeon of Mike and Larry's Tavern said with the present hours he stands to lose $5,000 in business next year. City would also lose $300 at the five cent tax level. McKeon said, "We would like you to re-evaluate and reconsider."

Ben Gardener of Scot Lad Foods, representative of Rudy's, cited the help shortage as Rudy's main reason to construct an inner story entrance. At Rudy's it would be advantageous two ways as women could relieve the clerk at the liquor store during lunch hour.

Rudy's and Walgreen's, who both plan remodeling at their stores, want the council to revise the separate entrance segment of the ordinance.

Ted Petro, current operator of the Mist, claimed discrimination on liquor license fees. He pays $800 for his license because the Mist offers entertainment three nights weekly. This is $150 above other tavern owners who offer music one night and still avoid paying the extra charge under the present ordinance. Petro would like to see this changed or equalized.

Holydays Ballot For Catholics

WILL COUNTY -- "To be or not to be..." The fate of obligatory holydays in the United States will soon be determined.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops, in order to sample as many viewpoints as possible before determining whether to make no change in the law regarding a particular holyday, or to eliminate the obligation requiring participation at Mass on this specific day, or to transfer the celebration of the feast to a near and appropriate Sunday, have asked to hear the voice of all American Catholics.

Modern life frequently makes attendance at Mass on weekday feasts of obligation difficult and, at times, impossible. Furthermore, shortage of time often leads to rushed or abbreviated celebrations of the liturgy with a consequent loss in their teaching and inspirational value.

On the positive side of the question, arguments in favor of retaining present legislation is the availability of evening Masses in every community. Evening Masses, it is felt, removes much of the inconvenience of attending holyday Masses.

Many feel that the relaxation of the rules on fast and abstinence caused many to lose a healthy spirit of penance. These same people feel that an alteration of the laws concerning holydays would result in a similar disregard for the celebration of these feasts.

In order to provide members of the Diocese of Joliet an opportunity to voice their opinion on holyday observance, or non-observance, Bishop Blanchette has asked that, through the parishes of the diocese, balloting take place on this question.

Questionnaires were distributed on Sunday, July 27, and are to be completed and returned to the parish church on Sunday, Aug. 3.

Meeting On Area Blasting

By JACKIE FREITAG
LEMONT -- A special meeting for all residents concerned with the blasting problem in the community has been called for 7 p.m., tomorrow, July 31.

Members of the Village Board of Trustees felt at the meeting Monday evening, that a meeting with the residents, the Metropolitan Sanitary District, and the companies that lease property from the sanitary district should be held.

In presenting the problem, Mayor John Kujawa stated that blasting has temporarily been stopped, due to complaints of residents at the last board meeting. A telegram was received from the sanitary district stating that the blasting would be stopped, and requesting a meeting with all concerned as soon as possible.

Mayor Kujawa stated that in 1966 the same problems arose, and the blasting was halted temporarily. The blasting in question now is located to the east of Stephen St., where the companies concerned are placing large charges. Companies are hoping to finish the blasting that is required before the lapse of their lease.

ing? What possible steps could be taken to prevent further damage?

All residents with complaints, damage estimates, and interest are invited to attend the meeting.

Discussion was held on the escape of chlorine gas from the Steelco Company last week. A tank car used by the company had a pipe burst, causing gas to leak.

According to Ken Steele, owner of the company, a new set of safeguards are being installed for use of the company to help prevent another accident like that one.

A meeting will be set up with the company, members of the village board, and members of the village pollution committee to make an inspection of the company.

Planning Golf Day

SOUTHWEST -- Wally Schuetz has been named general chairman of the Will County Republican Committee's third annual Golf Outing by Thomas Feehan, central committee chairman.

"Wally Schuetz has demonstrated his ability to organize, his ability to work with detail and his dedication to the Republican Party many times in the past," Feehan said in making the announcement. "I can think of no individual better qualified to make this the best golf outing yet."

Schuetz, deputy county treasurer, resides in Joliet. Before joining the treasurer's office in 1967 he was cashier of Union National Bank and Trust Company. For ten years he was associated with Peotone State Bank of Peotone.

The Golf Outing, according to Feehan, is Wednesday, Aug. 20, at Cog Hill Country Club, 119th and Archer, Lemont. Tickets are $20 and may be purchased from Republican precinct committeemen, Republican officeholders or at Republican headquarters, 32 West Van Buren Street, Joliet.

"The previous golf outings have proved to be an excellent opportunity for people interested in good government at the local level to enjoy a little recreation at the same time they are helping the Republican Party," Feehan explained.

He added that the $20 donation includes golf, dinner and door prizes. Tee-off reservations will be taken from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. Dinner will be served from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m.

Feehan said letters of invitation to the golf outing have been sent to all leading national and state GOP officials.

All concerned residents are urged to attend the July 31 meeting.

Mayor Kujawa stated that how to resolve this issue in a legal way was the biggest part of the problem. Village Attorney Dale Anderson stated that it is "virtually impossible to stop the blasting completely."

With this in mind Mayor Kujawa raised questions for the residents present to try to come up with solutions. Among them were: What proof can be given that damage was done by the blasting?

249 Paper Drive On

LEMONT -- Boy Scout Troop 249, sponsored by the Lemont Jaycees, will hold their bi-monthly paper drive on Aug. 2 at the Lemont Shopping Plaza.

Residents are asked to bring their sacked or tied bundles of newspapers to the truck trailer, parked on the east side of the plaza parking lot, anytime from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. No magazines will be accepted.

Scouts will be on duty there to unload the car trunk; and paper drives are held on the first Saturday of even numbered months, the next one to be held on Oct. 4.

If any resident can not get the newspapers to the plaza, two alternate methods are suggested: place the paper bundles on the street curb by noon, or call 257-7227 for home pick-up.

New donors are needed to provide an increase in the Troop's goal for the 1969 season. The Ford pick-up truck used during the drive is donated by Bodie Laubhan of D&M Motors.

Carnival Week Set

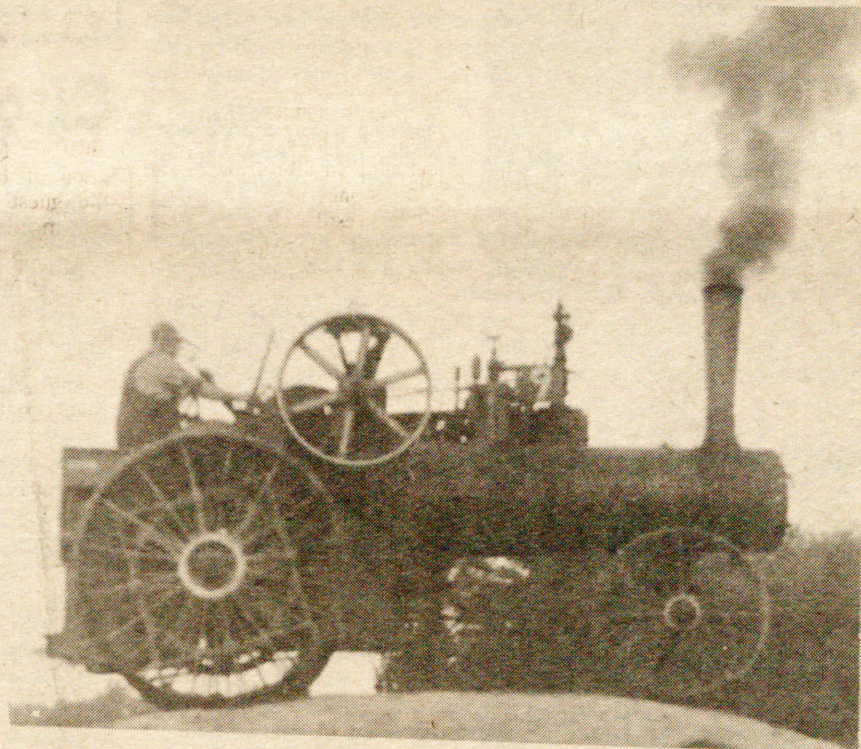

LOCKPORT -- Lockport Park District holds Carnival Week at its 13 summer playgrounds July 28 through Aug. 1. The theme for the week is the fantastic world of make-believe.

Special events include a playground carnival in which various booths and games are set up. A best booth contest is held in conjunction with the carnival week in which awards are presented.

Tournaments are four square, washers and sorry.

Watch Lesser Roads

It is our fervent hope that enough money will be left in the highway till after the state finishes rehabilitation and repairs on the super-duper expressways to repair holes that dot the lesser roads.

From the ridges pushed up on the road surfaces the outlook for a fine crop of chuck-holes and pavement breaks would seem assured. Now if the road money holds out all will be well.

Summer time is the time for highway fixing and no one can deny that July has been a decidedly summery month. If August comes up with a hot, dry spell, the pavements should be popped and that would give crews still time to fix patches before fall.

The winter thaws and freezes, of course, will make for more holes that may or may not be filled in the early spring but can be gotten at in the summer months. A lot of what appears to be good patching has been done on the highways this summer but it looks like the second crop of holes is about ready to break out most any day.

Highway crews are willing, be they state, county or municipal, but the cash is weak, it is pointed out from time to time. The bulk of money earmarked for roads is spent on the super-duper expressways. These expressways are wonderful things for travelers going long distances or from one city to another. They are fine things, too, for some cities, like Chicago for instance, where enormous sums of state and federal money are spent on expressways that are linked with the boulevards and streets.

Heaven knows most of us don't want any more taxes for road building. The state legislature has just finished putting an extra bite on car owners in the form of increased vehicle license fees and another boost in the form of increased vehicle license fees and another boost in the gasoline tax. A law also was passed setting up a highway building commission that can issue bonds without any approval of the public.

No, we don't want to pay any more money for roads than the new laws provide; but we hope there is some left for highways that formerly were primary roads but since the advent of the expressway are now reduced to secondary status, like U.S. 30, U.S. 45, U.S. 6 and others.

These highways are still needed. We feel sure the state will take care of things before snow flies, as will the county and the municipalities, or, to go back to the beginning we fervently hope we will begin winter with fairly sound highways and streets.

For Clean Streets

Happiness is many things to many different people. But happiness to a village is the way it appears to the outside world.

The village fathers of Lemont have gotten happiness-bug and are beginning a much needed street cleaning program in the downtown business district. A clean-up campaign has been conducted in Lemont for the past couple of years. Signs have been printed and are hanging throughout the village.

An example of one is in the court room of the village hall. In big bold letters it says, "Clean Up Lemont." The campaign seemed to be successful but interest of area residents slackened off.

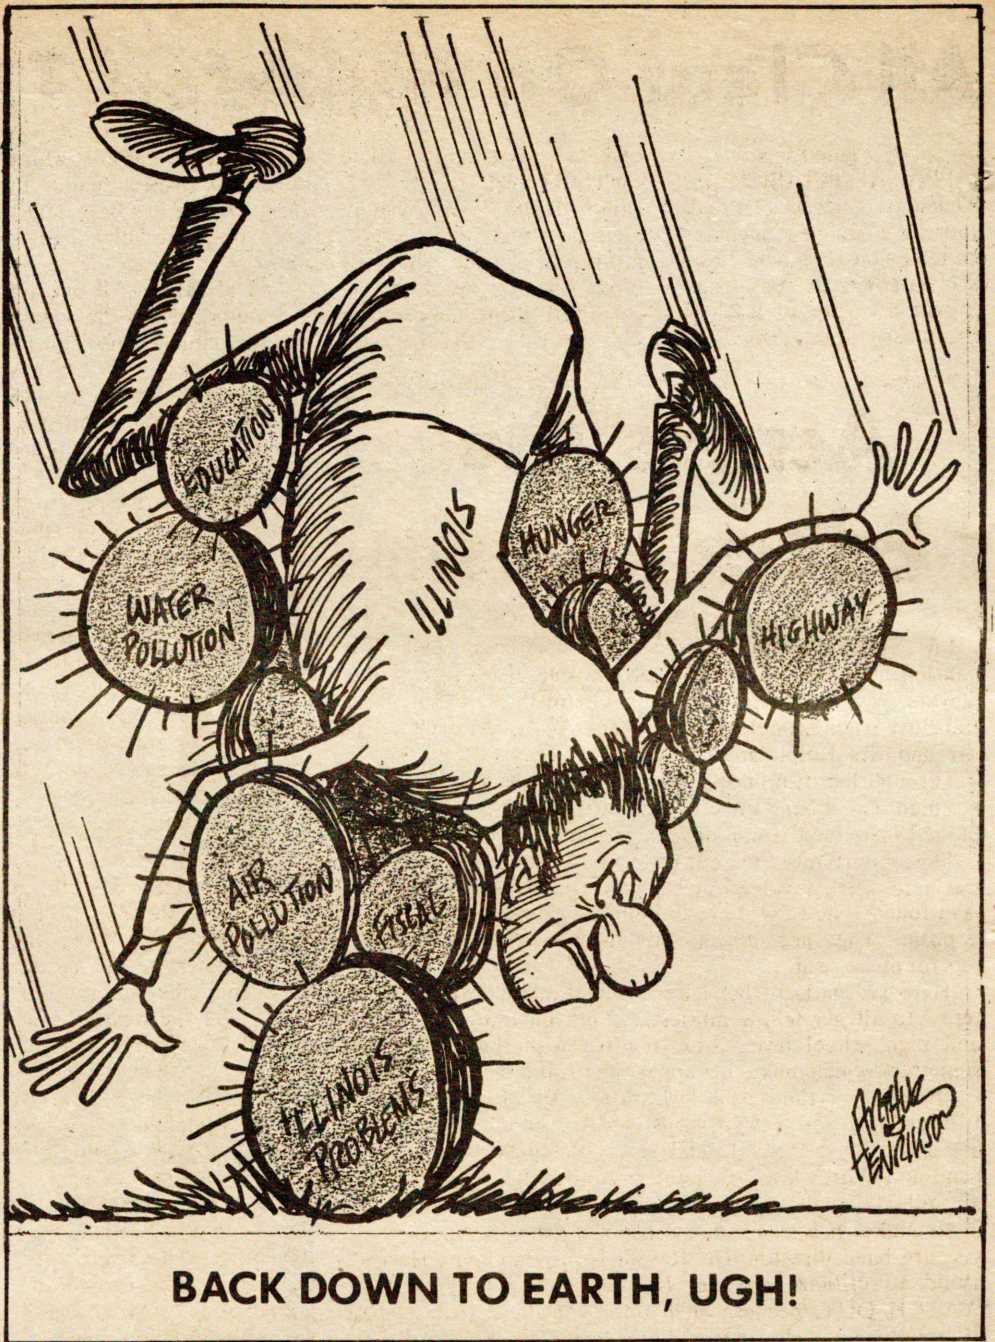

The Chamber of Commerce began a clean-up project for its members a few months back. During this campaign the fronts of some business places in the downtown district were rejuvenated and repainted. This small amount of work, if it will continue to be done by all businessmen and residents, would create a picture of a well-kept village.

Now the village fathers have turned their eyes to the streets. They have announced plans to sweep excessive amounts of dirt, stone, and litter off the streets. The over-

Remember

Some time ago, a student editor at a state university wrote an editorial in the form of a letter to his father. Among other things he said, "...Dad, believe me also when I say that my generation holds in contempt the colossal social, economic, and political blunders which you perpetuated. As we survey the worthless heritage of crime, war poverty, and greed, we unite in shouting, 'We will have none of it. There must be a second Renaissance!'"

Some time ago, in this case, was 1934.

Change Downtown Parking?

The Lockport City Council debated at a recent meeting whether or not to change downtown parking from diagonal to parallel.

Mayor George Nordstrom would like to see all streets converted at once or the project not initiated at all. Councilmen are primarily interested in safety factors.

Don Murphy, city clerk, threw in something to think about when he said the city should not inconvenience the public if it wants people to shop locally. He said if too many parking places are taken away from the public business will be lost. Most motorists are willing to drive around the block two or three times just so they might obtain a parking place in front of the store they wish to patronize, or at least they'll try to get close to it. Finding a place to park would be twice as difficult with half the existing number of spaces.

Gordon McCluskey, director of public works, feels the conversion of parking meters from diagonal to parallel should be done now in a move to decrease obstacles to safety. For the remainder of Lockport however, McCluskey would like to move slowly. He appreciates the fact that the number of parking meters would be cut in half.

It would appear that big trucks coming into the city and double parking on 10th Street to unload on congested streets are aggravating conditions. The problem wouldn't be as great otherwise. When the trucks are present, one way traffic only is allowed.

With an expected cooperation between merchants, the city and the police department, it seems likely the problem prone truck double parking situation can be overcome.

It may, then, not be necessary to go to parallel parking on downtown side streets. The remaining safety burden will be on the public to drive at safe speeds.

High Drama

The lunar landing is an amazing feat. It is also quite a tribute to the brains, ingenuity, resourcefulness and courage of the thousands of people whose efforts have made it possible, including the taxpayers who have footed the bill.

And almost as amazing as the landing itself is the fact that millions of people witnessed the landing at the time it took place, thanks to advances in electronics that made it possible for us to watch events so far from earth.

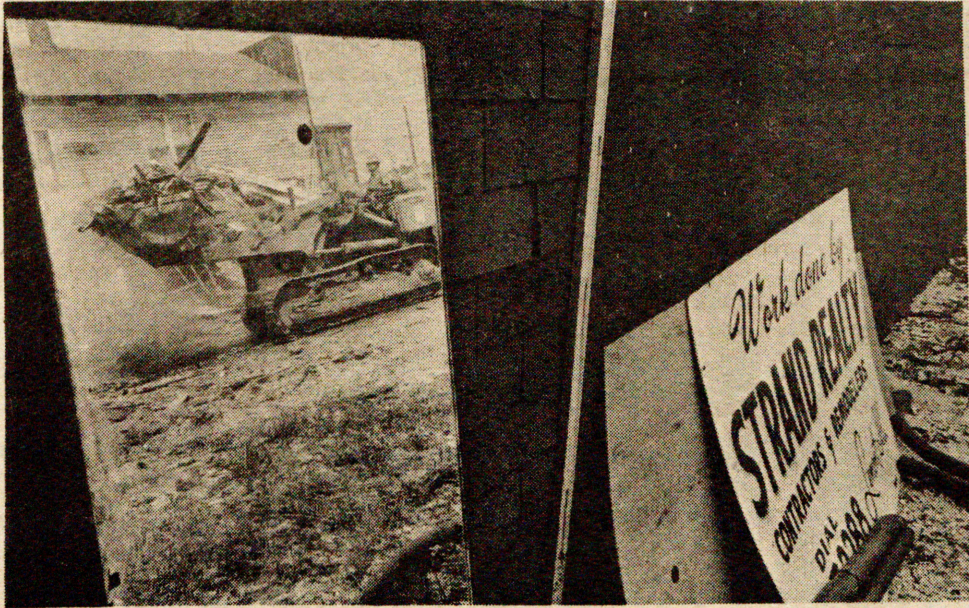

That the lunar landing was highly dramatic is to express the fact with considerable restraint. It was something that would leave a Hollywood press agent groping for words. It had everything, including suspense that was frightening.

This was no picture that was following a script, with the ending already filmed and in the can.

This landing business was for real and with that accomplished one began thinking of whether those human figures on the moon's surface would be able to get back to earth.

One wasn't so worried about the return to earth. Enough space capsules have made the return journey safely that one has come to expect that. It was whether these men who landed on the moon could get off it that kept countless viewers spellbound and on the edge of their chairs.

The names of Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., who landed on the moon, and their companion, Michael Collins who manned the space craft above them, will occupy a special place in the records of great events. America can be very proud of these sons.

BUILDING IN THE 300 block of Main St., Lemont, was torn down by the Strand Realty Co., last week. The building had been burned beyond repair in a fire last year, and was left to sit. After action by the village board the building was taken down. The demolition of this building is only one step in the "Clean Up Lemont" campaign now being conducted in the community. All Clear On Frankfort TV Front

By Glenn Logan
FRANKFORT--Since last Thursday residents of Frankfort have enjoyed uncluttered television reception. If any sets have been acting up since then, the County of Will and specifically the radio section of the sheriff's office can't be blamed.

For it was last Thursday afternoon that radio equipment serving the sherriff's office was removed from the Frankfort village hall its home for the past several years.

The antenna from which broadcasts were made to county police has been taken down from the village water tower.

The so-called civil defense transmitter, which the county uses to communicate with its highway crews, is still operating from Frankfort but according to village officials that hasn't given any trouble.

It was when the sherriff's office was broadcasting that TV screens went wild. Images became lines with shooting rays that rivaled Northern Lights, some claimed, and characters apparently in good health suddenly were afflicted with St. Vitus dance.

But this is all water over the channels now. With the offending equipment removed all is calm and peaceful for Frankfort TV watchers.

It all began when Joseph Trizna was sheriff. He obtained permission from the village fathers to put an antenna atop the water tower, said to be the highest point in Will County. Not long after the equipment was in use village officials began receiving complaints that the radio broadcasts were messing up TV reception.

The village complained to the county board and the sherriff's office. They were sorry and would take care of the matter. A lot of words, spoken and written on the subject, have passed since then.

ject, have passed since then.

Sheriff Martin Jackson recently said he would take care of the situation but when some time had elapsed and nothing had been done the village informed the sheriff and the county board that if they didn't come up with a remedy by July 1 the village would cut off the power.

The county didn't and the village did.

However, the village relented and on July 3 had the wires connected again but at the village board meeting July 7 the board wrote the county board and the sheriff to the effect that July 22 was the deadline.

If the equipment wasn't out of the village hall or had been fixed so that it wouldn't interfere with TV reception the wires would again be disconnected and would remain that way.

The county was to have had a man out July 22 to remove the equipment but he couldn't make it because an antenna and a filter that had been ordered hadn't been delivered.

Another extension was granted on Wednesday until Thursday and last Thursday the equipment was finally removed. It was moved someplace in Joliet.

If it gives trouble there that will be somebody else's problem. Right now Frankfort TV channels are steady and clear.

Across The Editor's Desk

By ANN KARKUT

I'M SURE that the District 92 band director, Jack Williamson, is interested in the efforts of one of his former star players, Ava Ordman, who is now one of the Lockport Central-East High School band members. Ava is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ordman of 139th and State St.

Through her own hard work and efforts she was chosen by her high school band director, Ernest Caneva, to be a member of the 1969 United States of America Band and Chorus.

This opportunity took her through a tour of Japan. Despite the hard work involved in being worthy of such an honor, Ava found time to write back home to her band director. He is proud of her accomplishments and brought one of her letters for me to read.

Here are parts of her letter which I'm sure will be of interest to all her fellow musicians, both on the grade school and high school level. Ava is gifted with that extra little something which makes her appealing to all.

"How's everything back in Lockport, Ill.? Japan is a beautiful country and Tokyo is just great. The Japanese people are extremely hospitable and enjoyable to be with. All the band and chorus kids are great and those that went last year are still talking about how great you and Mrs. Caneva are.

"It makes me proud to say that I'm from Lockport where you are band director. Dr. Revelli is just fabulous. He isn't afraid to criticize anyone. If you can't play your part, WATCH OUT, because he'll move you down to last chair after making you play in front of the band.

"We spend one-half hour to an hour every day on just tuning and sometimes he'll move you because of your pitch and tone quality on the tuning note.

"After this tour, I think that everyone in this band will be better off musically, because everyone listens to his harsh but constructive criticism. It is truly a great experience to play under his baton (although he doesn't use a baton).

"We practice eight hours a day, six and one-half in concert and one-half in marching. Mr. McKay is our marching instructor and he's rough too. The style of marching is completely different from our style in Lockport and I'd just as soon march Lockport style. On the street we are going to play Invictus by King.

"When I got here, I thought that we were going to have a real light program based on the music that I was sent. Most of the music that we are going to play we sight-read yesterday or the day before. The difficult numbers on our program are Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral, Tritico, Festive Overture, and Fantasia in G Major. We also have many light selections.

Everyone in the band is giving 100 per cent and I think that our tour will be a big success. Our first concert is going to be broadcasted on television throughout Japan and this side of the world.

"I sit third chair out of 10 trombones and I am trying to represent Lockport and you to the best of my ability. I am the youngest in the band but everybody gets along with everybody no matter how old you are.

"This is the greatest experience I have ever approached and Mr. Caneva, I will be indebted to you for the rest of my life for making this year the most or one of the most rewarding years of my life. You're fabulous and I thank you immensely from the bottom of my heart.

"I'll be back and ready to go in August. Let's make this year's band one of the finest bands we've ever had in Lockport. Thanks again not only for the trip but also for your help musically. I definitely think that I have one of the best musical backgrounds having been under your leadership."

Well, Hush My Mouth!

By JACKIE FREITAG

Have you ever heard of the "Grand Canyon in the Flesh"? Well, if you haven't that is a big-mouth person. I know quite a few with this problem. The best one of the bunch is me.

I never really know quite when to shut up. Many times I have put my foot in my mouth, like many others have, but I haven't even realized what I have done. This tends to create problems, especially when other people take what I say the wrong way.

I never will forget the time I very proudly recited a nursery rhyme, something about two people up in a tree kissing, to the whole first grade class. This was going along great until I submitted the name of my teacher and one of the boys in my class into the little ditty. I never could understand why I had to stand in the corner all day.

Little kids always love to go to school and carry tales from home. I know, I used to love it, and the kids that I have taught in classes always have a good story to tell. This seems to be the way of all the young kids. They can't wait to get to school to tell just exactly what went on at home.

Everybody seems to outgrow stupid stages that they have as they mature and grow. Not me!

Stamp To Commemorate Moon Landing

MOON LANDING -- It's black and white here but the air mail stamp commemorating the landing on the moon by Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin will be in red, white, blue and brown. It will be a big one, too.

SOUTHWEST - Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has announced the design of 10-cent Moon Landing commemorative air mail stamp, according to Postmaster L. E. Brown, of New Lenox.

A die proof of this stamp, attached to an envelope, will be taken to the moon and cancelled there by Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin. It will bear a cancellation reading "Moon Landing U.S.A. July 20, 1969."

The moon explorers will also carry with them the master die from which the printing will be made.

The 10-cent air mail stamp, a jumbo-size 1.05 x 1.80 inches, will be issued with first day ceremonies in Washington, D. C., late in August.

The horizontal stamp will be printed in red, white, blue and brown. It shows an astronaut descending from the module, his left foot making the first contact with the surface of the moon. In the background, more than a quarter million miles away, is the planet Earth. An initial printing of 120 million has been authorized.

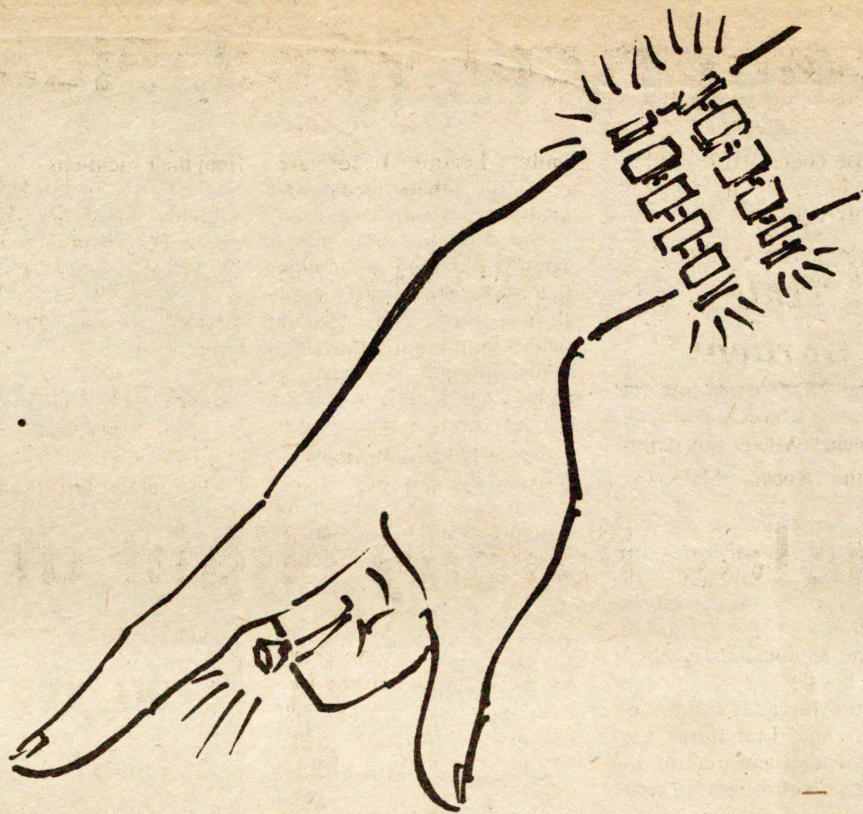

Across the bottom of the stamp in blue gothic capitals is "First Man on the Moon." Vertical left, in the same type style, in red, is "United States." Inset, upper left, is "10c Air Mail." Each pane will contain 32 instead of the usual 50 stamps.

The stamp was designed by Paul Calle, of Stamford, Conn., who also produced the art work for the Twin Space Commemorative stamps in 1967.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington, D. C. 20013. A closefitting enclosure of postal card thickness should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The outside envelope should be endorsed "First Day Covers 10c First Man on the Moon Stamp."

Orders for covers must not include requests for uncanceled stamps. The exact date of release of the stamp will be announced later.

Overeating Is Just A Crutch, Doctor Says

Here's news for the women over forty faced with a weight problem: chances are, if you're overweight, you're overeating. A noted New York gynecologist, Dr. Seymour Schlusell, finds that the weight problem of many mature women is due to their "psychological state."

But he points out that women in this age category should have less of a problem losing weight than their younger counterparts. Nature aids them. "Physically and medically, it is probably even a little easier for the mature woman going through the menopause or the post-menopause to lose weight," he said.

Dr. Schlusell, an assistant clinical professor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at New York Medical College, finds that a major problem of many of his patients is overweight. "A woman gains weight as a crutch -- she overeats, perhaps out of a very real depression brought on at the menopause time. Or she may turn to alcohol. Melancholia is another manifestation. But it's a whole psychological thing."

The doctor explained: "The woman no longer feels she's attractive and so she looks for other outlets. We all know the stereotype of the matron who does civic things."

"A younger woman can get by more easily on her natural attractiveness. You expect a young woman to be appealing, but you comment on it in a woman over 40. You say how spry and buoyant she is. Well, after 40 a woman does have to work at it."

Dr. Schlusell, who is associated with several hospitals including Mount Sinai, Montefiore, Flower and Fifth Avenue in New York City, pointed out that during menopause there is a loss of certain hormones causing less water retention than in younger women. This medical fact should make it easier to lose weight since retaining water is what causes both a bloated appearance and an actual weight increase.

The gynecologist stated that the administration of the hormone estrogen, a widely accepted treatment in menopause, may cause a slight water retention in some people but it is not permanent and can be lost with a little effort.

"The use of estrogen," Dr. Schlusell said, "is a highly special thing -- that is, it's dependent entirely on the individual woman. Many people believe that administering this hormone prolongs youth. It appears to do this by preventing certain premature aging processes like demineralization of the bone."

Dr. Schlusell made it very clear that not everyone needs estrogen. "Women who are depressed due to severe menopausal symptoms may benefit by this treatment. Or there may be a definite physical need for supplementing the hormone. And there is often a cardiovascular need."

Estrogen treatment should be administered under the advice and supervision of "a competent gynecologist," Dr. Schlusell noted. Any town or city has a medical society which can supply the name of a certified gynecologist in the area.

Dr. Schlusell discounts the old wives' tale about women over 40 having more difficulty losing weight than the younger woman. It is a question of mind over matter. "It's all a psychological thing," according to Dr. Schlusell.

Cool Treats

SOUTHWEST -- "Make the most of the companionship of the younger people in your circle of friends. Think young and cook young, too."

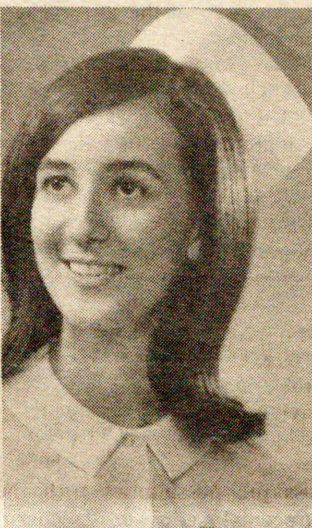

Two of the many distinct treats the books suggests for vacation-time enjoyment are Summer Shish Kebab and Icy Salmon Mold.

For the Shish Kebab recipe you will need: 2 large green peppers, seeded, and cut into 16 chunks; 40 whole imported dates; 2 pounds beef cubed steaks, cut into 24-chunks; 24 pineapple cubes; 8 whole boiled onions (canned); 8 whole small beets (canned); and seasoned salt. For the sauce, combine 2/3 cup French style salad dressing and 2 tablespoons soy sauce and mix well.

Prepare each skewer as follows: green pepper, date, pineapple, date, steak, onion, steak, date, beet (center), pineapple, date, green pepper. Sprinkle skewers with seasoned salt. Brush generously with sauce. Broil until meat is browned. Turn, sprinkle with seasoned salt, brush generously with dressing and broil until done. Serve with rice. This recipe provides for eight 8 to 10 inch skewers of shish kebab. Serve 2 per person.

Ingredients for the icy salmon loaf are: 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin; 1/4 cup water; 2 1-pound cans red salmon, drained; 1 8-ounce package of imported diced dates; 1/3 cup sweet relish; 1/2 cup diced celery; 2 large apples, pared, cored and diced; 1 teaspoon salt; and 3/4 cup mayonnaise.

Sprinkle gelatin over the water and set aside. Drain salmon and flake with fork. Add dates, sweet relish, celery, apples and salt to salmon and mix. Add mayonnaise and gelatin mixture and mix until well blended. Place in a well-greased, 4 cup mold and refrigerate 3-4 hours. Unmold and garnish with salad greens. Serves eight.

the Second Forty

by Margaret Brookfield

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Second Marriage

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am a widow in her forties with two teenage children. I am considering remarriage. A childless widower I met over a year ago has proposed. I am very fond of him but my first marriage was such a happy one that I sometimes have doubts that this experience can be repeated. What do you think?

H.D., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dear H.D.:

Second marriages usually work out quite well for those who have had happy first ones. Dr. Benjamin Schlesinger, professor of social work at the University of Toronto, who conducted a study on remarriages, offers some basic suggestions for those in your situation. His advice is as follows: think out the second marriage and work out any difficulties beforehand; if children are involved they should be helped to understand what the second marriage will mean for them. Based on his study, Dr. Schlesinger's advice is: "Do not be afraid to marry for the second time."

Mature Help

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I read the letter from the woman over 40 who wants to return to work after 20 years as a housewife. You advised her to update her skills, adding that mature women are being hired. I would like to tell you that the chances are slim for anyone over 40, either male or female, searching for a well-paying job. For a number of years, the emphasis has been on youth. When it comes to a choice of experience over youth, the mature person's background, reliability and stability will be overlooked and the job will go to a younger "swinger" every time.

I am 45 and have worked all of my adult life. I have an excellent background in the secretarial and legal-stenographic field. I type and take dictation well and have a 98.8 per cent Federal rating for stenography. All this is valueless when a younger girl applies for a job, or someone with a "contact" inside the firm, but I can put out more work than any two young girls. I don't mean to sound like "sour grapes," but I write from experience. We'll be going to Florida soon. What's your suggestion for work there?

V.A., Macon, Ga.

Dear V.A.:

O.K. let's be practical. With your excellent skills, you probably would not have had any difficulty in finding a well-paying position in large cities where competent, experienced help is in demand. When you get to Florida, we would suggest two approaches: 1) visit the state employment office and discuss job possibilities with the special counselors for mature employees, and 2) consider the possibility of starting your own business as a public stenographer. Talk with hotel managers at the resort hotels about providing accommodations and also some means of advising incoming guests of this service. Many businessmen go to Florida. They do not take secretaries with them but often require secretarial help on vacation. With your skills, you may earn more than two young "swingers" together if you market them where the demand exceeds the supply.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help write to Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS

Dear friends,

Under the complexities of our modern civilization, the funeral director has had to become familiar with life insurance, Social Security, government burial allowances, taxes, death certificates, burial permits, cemetery regulations, and many legal matters.

We willingly counsel with bereaved families who are not familiar with these problems.

Respectfully,

Edwin Hirsch

We helped build America. Now we keep it moving.

Santa Fe, in its 101st year is moving toward new ways to serve America's growing need for faster and more efficient distribution methods. Talk about fast service. We give you "Super C", the world's fastest freight train. Now running as a market-tester for Piggy-Back and container cargos between Chicago, Kansas City and Southern California.

Talk about communications. Our microwave network and data center uses third-generation computers to keep constant control of car movements, and to help develop new methods that serve you better.

How about capital expenditures? During 1969, we're spending $190 million for new equipment, modernization of facilities and development of new projects.

For our equipment fleet we are acquiring 2,600 new freight cars, 90 high horsepower diesels, 25 remote locomotive control units, 1,263 vans for highway and Piggy-Back service, along with other vehicles.

We're completing a multi-million dollar expansion of our automated freight classification terminal at Kansas City.

We're expanding diesel shops, Piggy-Back and automobile handling facilities for Chicago, Texas and California.

Other major improvements include the replacement of 417 track miles with continuously welded rail and the construction of a 31-mile spur track to serve new sulphur deposits in West Texas.

And we're constructing 2,000 miles of Gulf Central Pipeline to transport anhydrous ammonia from producing areas of Louisiana to the farmlands of central U.S.A.

We want to serve you better, no matter how you want to ship: by rail, by highway, Piggy-Back or container, and by pipeline. And through industrial development, we can provide plant sites across 13,000 miles of one of the fastest growing sections of the U.S.A.

We helped build America. Now we keep it moving.

Benefit Show Set For Deceased Driver's Family

By SANDY CARTER
SOUTHWEST--The United Auto Racing Association will be at the Waukegan Speedway Aug. 1 for a benefit show for the family of UARA driver Paul Rademacher, who lost his life in a one-car crash at the Speedway July 4 race.

Paul Rademacher was a UARA midget driver. He had been driving with the United Auto Racing Association for six years. He and car owner, Jim Anderson drove some with USAC, but were giving their support to UARA this year.

Paul was always ready to help the other drivers and car owners. He had the time to talk to the children and sign their books. When you talked to Paul, he had a smile. You knew when he was on the track, you would see a good race.

Paul was the second driver to lose their life in the 23 year history of UARA racing. The car owners and drivers have all the safety equipment needed in order to have safe racing.

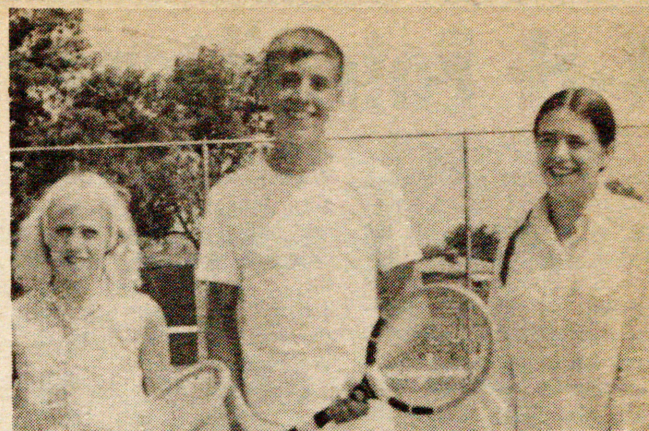

UARA isn't just another Association, there is something special between the members and fans. When something happens, it doesn't hurt just a few. The Association and fans feel closer and are working harder to see UARA grow in memory of Paul. There are some who will set back to see if it goes all the way before they help, but the majority of members and fans are working harder than ever to see that Paul didn't die in vain.

Paul leaves his widow, Linda and two daughters, Laurie Lynn and Susan Ann.

Along with the UARA mid-gets will be members of the Badger Association who have driven with Paul. Also on hand will be the Hobby Stocks.

Printers Ink of Waukegan, is donating the four foot trophy in Paul's memory.

Offer Many Things

What to do with children while traveling or visiting is another problem that faces many mothers in the summer.

Captain Kangaroo is a favorite of children. The makers of a Changeable Captain Kangaroo offer the best time consumer for children. For a booklet which describes the relationship of play to a child's development and explains how to create a home play-and-learn environment, write "Playtools to Shape a Child's World," 221 North LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Does your summer guest list include a preschooler or two?

Playskool Research offers guidelines for play and for selecting basic play materials, in a free booklet titled, "The Right Toy for the Right Age." It is available by writing "Right Toy -- Right Age," 221 North LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

A guide for the use and selection of the latest wall covering designs is now available for aspiring do-it-yourself home decorators.

The 32-page booklet may be obtained by sending 25 cents to "Wallcoverings and You," United DeSoto, 3101 S. Kedzie Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60623.

A series of four booklets, written for and about women, has been published recently by Kimberly-Clark's Life Cycle Center.

Available from this information education service are "The Miracle of You," for young adolescents; "Your Years of Self-Discovery," for mid-teens; "You and Your Daughter," for mothers and teachers; and "The Years of Independence," for young women 18-22 who are on their own for the first time. The booklets are ten cents each from the Life Cycle Center, Kimberly-Clark Corp., Box 551-PR, Neenah, Wisc., 54956.

HULA BURGERS and hot weather go hand in hand. These novel "island treats" are hamburgers with snob appeal. They take only minutes longer to prepare than ordinary hamburgers. Just top double-thick beef patties with slices of pineapple. Then crumble tangy American blue cheese over the fruit, and grill to taste. The salt and pepper flavor of American blue melts invitingly over the pineapple to create a succulent new taste... sweet but sassy. Served on colorful paper plates, hula burgers will be the highlight of all your parties under the stars this summer.

Recorder's Earnings Up

WILL COUNTY -- Will County Recorder of Deeds Kenneth George (R) announced that his office last month turned over $41,325.87 in surplus earnings to County Treasurer Clarence Lipman (R) for deposit in the general fund.

Village, Builder Agree

MOKENA -- The village of Mokena and Joseph DePaulo, builder of an apartment building on First Ave., have apparently reached an agreement on their parking problem.

The village halted work on the project because there was no room on the site for off-street parking required by ordinance. Six parking spaces are required.

Under an agreement reached following a conference between Village Attorney George F. Sangmeister and Thomas P. Powers, attorney for DePaulo, a garage on the property immediately east of the apartment building is to be removed to provide the additional parking area required.

It was also agreed that DePaulo is to enter into an agreement with the village that the parking area is to remain with the apartment building property even if the apartment is sold.

It was also agreed that the broken sidewalk on First St. is to be replaced, the alley immediately west of the apartment site shall be returned to its original state and there shall be no parking on the west side of the apartment building.

On a motion by Trustee Lyman Teague and seconded by Henry Clark the order stopping work on the apartment building has been rescinded and DePaulo can resume work, providing he signs the agreement.

Area Boys Arrive At Ranch

LEMONT -- Bob Brandenburg, Jim and Bob Shour-ek, all of Lemont, have arrived at Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base, the national camping area of the Boy Scouts of America.

The boys are from various troops and posts in the West Suburban Council, BSA.

Scouts are now in training at the "University of the Great Outdoors" for their 12-day high adventure expedition under the guidance of Philmont's Ranger staff. Rangers are instructing them in wilderness cookery, backpacking, hiking techniques, and uses of a compass and map.

After three days with their

Ranger, the expedition will continue following mountain trails on the 214-square mile ranch under their own adult leader, Grover Hartsuch of 7015 DuPage Dr., Downers Grove.

While on the trail, the Scouts can participate in programs offered in 20 mountain camps by members of Philmont's 350-man staff.

Programs offered include burro packing, horseback riding, gold panning and mining, archaeological study and digging, and advanced mountaineering.

This summer, during the Ranch's 31st camping season, more than 11,000 Explorers and older Boy Scouts will take part in these and other activities.

Get Ready For Art Fair

SOUTHWEST -- Entries for the Park Forest annual art fair must be received by Aug. 22.

Eligible work includes paintings, drawings, sculpture, non-mas produced prints, non-commercial photography, handmade jewelry, ceramics, textiles, glass and wood pieces.

The two day outdoor fair will be held Sept. 27 and 28 at Lakewood School, corner of Lakewood and Orchard Dr., just north of the main shopping plaza.

Artists wishing further information may call Mrs. James Marzuki, artist registration chairman, 312-748-5016.

Argonne Creates Kidney

SOUTHWEST--The lives of thousands of people afflicted with kidney failure might be prolonged if a small, inexpensive artificial kidney can be developed.

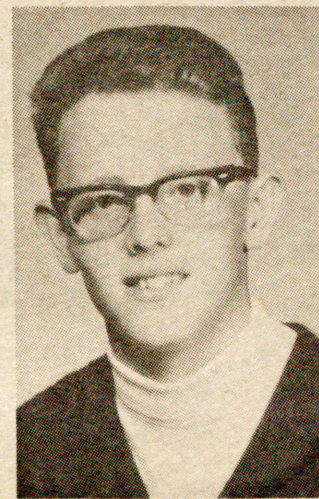

This is the goal of work being conducted at the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory under an interagency agreement between the National Institute of Health and the AEC. The Laboratory is working on a new hemodialyzer (artificial kidney) which a patient might use at home. Argonne has several prototypes already built.

Hemodialyzers substitute for damaged kidneys by filtering poisonous wastes from the patient's bloodstream as it is diverted through the device.

At present from 2,500 to 3,000 patients per year receive such treatment while some 50,000 Americans could benefit annually from the availability of a low-cost dialyzer. Cost for treatment using currently available methods ranges from $5,000 to as much as $25,000 per year.

Present dialyzers are so large and difficult to operate that most patients must receive treatment in hospitals where trained medical personnel operate the equipment.

Initial testing of the hemodialyzers will be conducted with patients at Hines Veterans' Administration hospital. If hospital results are satisfactory, patients will be trained in use of the apparatus and supervised home dialysis trials will be conducted.

JIM DEAN

Makes All Star Team

LOCKPORT -- Jim Dean, 16, of Homer Township, has been chosen to play outfield on the Joliet Colt world series all star baseball team. He has been playing regular colt league baseball on the local Lockport Savings and Loan team coached by Clyde Odell and George Mikota.

Dean and Steve Reed, another Homer youth, went to East Liverpool, Ohio, July 4 for tournament play representing a similar all star team.

Dean attended Reed and Ludwig Grade Schools and played on the Homer Township Little League team coached by Jerry Peterson and Richard Kuban. He played this spring on the Lockport East sophomore team.

J-J Work Is Starting

LOCKPORT -- Johnson and Johnson is breaking ground this week for a new baby products manufacturing facility on its 332 acre land tract in Will County 10 miles north of Joliet. Land is located in the Santa Fe Argonne Industrial District.

Every modern facility will be installed in the new building where plans call for the eventual manufacture of Johnson and Johnson's baby products. Architects are A. Epstein and Sons Inc. of Chicago. McKinley Company of Chicago will serve as contractors and builders.

life is talking because I never quite knew when to shut up. Even in high school when you are supposed to be the height of sophistication I always opened my mouth before my mind goes into gear. Many times I asked myself just how in the heck I got involved with kids problems, committee work, or extra assignments, all because I had a big mouth that opened too soon.

Even after I entered the national labor force (work) I haven't quite learned to say no and keep my mouth shut. I always seem to have more work than the next guy just because I can't seem to say no, or I say "sure I'll do it" before I think it over. Well, I guess in most cases a lot of people seem to have this mouth problem.

Maybe if I would learn to keep the lips sealed together, and my tongue in still motion I would be better off.
